PROJECT MANAGER - JOB DESCRIPTION

- International shipbuilder seeking project managers
- Offshore career opportunities with growing company

Strategic Marine is a global shipbuilder headquartered in Western Australia, with yards in Singapore, Mexico, and Vietnam. We specialise in the design and construction of high speed aluminium patrol boats, crew boats, ferries, large steel vessels & complex marine structures. We are an extremely successful and growing business with a focus on developing our people and we are looking for ambitious individuals wanting to grow with us.

We are currently seeking Project Managers for positions in Vung Tau, Vietnam, to oversee the construction of several large projects. The Project Manager will be responsible for project initiation through to delivery to ensure on time and within budget delivery, in accordance with classification society rules, and to the specifications laid down by the customer.

These positions would suit individuals who have the desire to work overseas with a dynamic Australian company, to enhance their careers and to contribute directly to the growth and success of the business. A keen interest in training local workers is also fundamental to these positions.

The Project Manager will be responsible for:

- Providing overall leadership for the project while maintaining a focus on achieving results efficiently and safely
- Client liaison including the development and presentation of project plans, progress reports and acceptance by the client of the final product
- Supervise dealings with classification societies
- The coordination and utilisation of project resources

- Liaison with the shipyard management staff to ensure their performance is consistent with the aims of the project
- Financial, technical and schedule reporting
- Risk management and problem solving
- Oversight of subcontractors and suppliers
- The development of project plans, including testing, logistics and in service support
- The production of other project deliverables such as training and documentation
- Coaching and development of employees both local and expat

Essential requirements for this position are:

- Experience in project management
- Excellent organisational and planning skills
- Strong Leadership qualities
- Previous experience working in Asia would be highly beneficial

Formal project management or engineering qualifications would be desirable but not essential, as would be experience in marine, offshore or oil & gas industry.
